DECEMBER HOLIDAY CAMPOUT, Golden Village Palms by K6ALM -- Amy

The Holiday/Christmas campout was again at Golden Village Palms. Most all of us arrived Sunday and were hooked up and ready to party by the afternoon. Dinner at El Vaquero's was delicious as always and an easy way to start the week.

Monday morn was free to finish up shopping, visiting with friends in the area, and just relax. Happy hour was in the B room which is kind of small and was the site for the rest of our events.

Tuesday morning the officers served a bountiful breakfast of pancakes, scrambled eggs, sausage, and assorted juices and coffee. Each member was given a Christmas coffee mug to use for the remainder of the campout. Our chapter meeting followed. The rest of the afternoon was free for shopping, playing cards, geo caching or just kicking back and listening to the rain on the roof tops of our rigs. We went back to the B room for our gourmet Happy Hour and the Dogs for the Deaf Raffle. There were several gorgeous handmade quilts, dozens of poinsettias, gift certificates, gift baskets and many many other items. Everyone went away with smiles on their faces and the trunks of their cars loaded.

Wednesday morning after the net we had a pot luck breakfast and again went away with very full tummies. A bit of free time before our catered dinner and the installation of new officers. We were able to get back to our rigs before the rains came... And rain it did. So thankful to be warm and dry during the deluge. By morning the rain had stopped and we had a safe and easy drive home. Many many thanks all the officers who were the Hosts for this campout and especially to Ed and Glenda for all their planning and effort.
